BlueWater Chamber Orchestra is a refreshingly unique professional ensemble dedicated to sharing great music with new audiences in metropolitan Cleveland, Ohio. Through engaging performances and community education, the group is reaching out to listeners via neighborhood-based programs that bring classical music directly to their doors. With its theme of "From Cleveland, For Cleveland," the orchestra and its guests spotlight the amazing talent of the professional musicians who are united to NE Ohio either through birth, education or current home. Critics have acknowledged BlueWater as "essential contributors to Cleveland's classical-music scene" and acclaim "the brilliance and professionalism that has become a trademark of Blue Water's performances." Founded in 2010, BlueWater is in residence at the beautiful Breen Center for the Performing Arts at Saint Ignatius High School, near downtown. An ongoing relationship with Plymouth Church in Shaker Heights also brings performances directly into the eastern suburbs. BlueWater musicians often diversify into smaller ensembles to perform chamber music concerts in various venues throughout the region. Both the full orchestra and smaller ensembles present educational concerts in Cleveland area elementary and high schools. Committed to welcoming new audiences while serving established chamber music aficionados, BlueWater celebrates the luminous world of inspiring chamber orchestra music.
